

ABOUT

Equity Investment Strategy seeking to generate current income while maintaining prospects for capital appreciation.

Investment universe of 73 publicly-listed Residential and Commercial Mortgage REITs And Business Development Companies (BDCs).

Actively managed portfolio of 12-18 companies seeking to deliver an attractive and consistent dividend distribution.

INVESTMENT PROCESS

Analyze: Company-specific bottom-up forecasts to project financial results.

Construct: Select 12-18 companies from five sub-sectors that may deliver an attractive dividend that is relatively resilient across various interest rate scenarios.

Manage: Frequently “stress-test” financial models and the market values of investment portfolios to changes in interest rates and investment spreads.

MACRO COMMENTARY

Although longer-term treasury yields ended 2Q24 up only 20bp from 1Q24, intra-quarter the 10-year treasury hit 4.70% (up 50bp) before rallying to end the quarter at 4.40%. Short-term yields were similarly volatile with the 2-year treasury increasing from 4.62% to 5.04% before ending the quarter at 4.75%. While consensus seems to be forming around 2 fed rate cuts, beginning September, recently rates have been somewhat volatile as the market is handicapping the economic impact of a new administration.

DVDN POSITIONING

During June, DVDN maintained 18 total positions as allocation to Commercial REITs increased to 8 names and 37% of AUM, from 5 names and 9%, respectively, from May. Residential REITs decreased to 10 positions, from 11, and 63% of AUM. DVDN eliminated exposure to BDCs as it expects 2Q24 results will reflect lower marginal ROEs from tighter lending spreads, and potentially weaker credit.

All metrics are equal-weighted by the number of stocks in each segment.

Residential Mortgage REITs (MREITs) investment in Agency MBS, Non-Agency MBS, mortgage loans and mortgage servicing rights. Commercial Mortgage REITs (CREITs) invest in loans secured by commercial properties that include offices, multifamily, distribution facilities, life science properties, etc. The majority of the CREITs in the DVDN Investment Universe invest in shorter-term “transitional loans” made to property owners that use the funds to improve the quality of the property with the intention of refinancing the loans with longer-term mortgages. Business Development Companies (BDCs) invest in loans made to private companies that are generally, but not always, backed by private equity sponsors. The majority of BDC loans are floating rate and are underwritten based upon a company's cash flow. A sub-segment of the BDC sector is Venture Debt Lenders that provide debt capital to early-stage private equity-backed companies.

LEGAL DISCLOSURES

Must be preceded or accompanied by a prospectus.

Investing involves risk, including the possible loss of principal. Shares of any ETF are bought and sold at market price (not NAV) and may trade at a discount or premium to NAV. Shares are not individually redeemable from the Fund and may be only be acquired or redeemed from the fund in creation units. Brokerage commissions will reduce returns.

Fund risks: As with all funds, a shareholder is subject to the risk that his or her investment could lose money. The principal risks affecting shareholders' investments in the Fund are set forth below.

Equity Securities Risk. Equity prices may fall over short or extended periods of time. Historically, the equity markets have moved in cycles, and the value of equity securities may fluctuate from day to day.

Mortgage REITs Risk. The Fund's investments in the securities of publicly traded residential and commercial mortgage REITs will be subject to a variety of risks affecting those REITs directly. Investments in BDCs, Business Development Companies may be subject to a high degree of risk. BDCs typically invest in small and medium-sized private and certain public companies that may not have access to public equity or debt markets for capital raising. As a result, a BDC's portfolio typically will include substantial amounts of securities purchased in private placements, and its portfolio may carry risks similar to those of a private equity or venture capital fund.

Risks of investing in VDLs. VDLs, Venture Debt Lenders, are direct lenders to private companies that are backed by private equity or venture capital investment firms. Generally, these companies have reached a stage in their business life cycle whereby their sponsors are comfortable raising debt capital to fund growth rather than investing additional equity capital.

Fixed-Income Securities Risk. Fixed-income securities can experience extended periods of price declines during periods of (a) sustained increases in market interest rates; and/or (b) persistent widening of credit spreads. The values of fixed-income securities may be affected by changes in the credit rating or financial condition of their issuers.

New Fund Risk. The Fund is a new ETF and has only recently commenced operations. As a new fund, there can be no assurance that the Fund will grow to or maintain an economically viable size, in which case it could ultimately liquidate. The Fund's distributor does not maintain a secondary market in the Fund's shares.

LEGAL DISCLOSURES

The Kingsbarn Dividend Opportunity ETF (the “Fund”, or “DVDN”) is an actively managed portfolio of 12-18 publicly listed companies included in three segments that comprise the DVDN Investment Universe: Residential Mortgage Real Estate Investment Trusts (“MREITs”), Commercial Mortgage Real Estate Investment Trusts (“CREITs”), and Business Development Companies (“BDCs”). Together, these three segments comprise the DVDN Investment Universe of 73 companies that are segmented as follows: MREITs = 19 companies; CREITs = 17 companies; and BDCs = 37 companies.

The Fund's total expense ratio, as reported in its prospectus dated March 17, 2023, is 1.72% that is comprised of an ongoing management fee of 0.90% (90 basis points) and 0.82% (82 basis points) related to acquired fund fees and expenses pertaining to the 2023/2024 fiscal year. The Fund's total expense ratio has been updated to 90 basis points as reflected in the DVDN Semi-Annual Report for the period ended April 30, 2024, (Page 8) that can be reviewed at www.kingsbarncapital.com

The 30-Day SEC Yield is a standard yield calculation developed by the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) that allows for fairer comparisons among funds. It is based on the most recent 30-day period. This yield figure reflects the interest earned during the period after deducting the Fund's expenses for the period. It does not reflect the yield an investor would have received if they had held the Fund over the last twelve months assuming the most recent NAV.

Mortgage REITs and BDCs periodically pay “special” or “supplemental” dividends that can result in some variability in the 30-Day SEC Yield. The primary reason companies provide these distributions is to indicate to investors they may not be “permanent” whereas management believes the “core” dividend is more likely to be resilient in the face of declining interest rates. The data block provides the monthly SEC 30-Day Yield for the most recent quarter to provide investors a view on the variability in periodic cash flows into the Fund. Investors should also be aware the 30-Day SEC Yield is also based upon the NAV of the Fund that can also vary during each month and quarter.

The Distribution Rate is the annual rate an investor would receive if the most recent Fund distribution stayed the same going forward. The rate represents a single distribution from the Fund and does not represent the total return of the Fund. The rate is calculated by annualizing the most recent distribution and dividing it by the FUND NAV from the as-of-date.

Investors should take note of the following matters pertaining to the 4Q23, 1Q24 and 2Q24 Dividend Distributions and the calculation of the Fund's Distribution Rate.

Investors should understand the Fund's external accountants have a quarterly “cut-off” date prior to the actual end of a quarter (generally the 15th day of the third month of each quarter) that provides sufficient time to perform all calculations involved in declaring a dividend.

Further, as most of companies in the DVDN portfolio pay a quarterly dividend that goes ex-dividend (the date the dividend is owed to the Fund) during the last 7-10 days of the quarter, quite a few of these company dividends “go ex” after the quarterly cut-off date and are therefore not recorded as Investment Income that determines that quarter's dividend.

With this information, a few comments on how this impacted the 4Q23 Dividend Distribution and Distribution Rate and will also impact the 1Q24 and 2Q24 Dividend Distribution and Distribution Rate.

- 4Q23 – As DVDN was launched in November 2023, the 4Q23 dividend of $0.81 was the Fund's first dividend distributed to investors. Further, as it was also the final quarter of the calendar year, the Fund's accountants estimated the dividends the Fund would receive from portfolio companies after the 4Q23 cut-off date (mid-December 2023). The reason for doing this was to make sure the dividend distribution did not result in any negative tax issues for the Fund or investors. The resulting 4Q23 Distribution Rate, including actual and estimated dividends received from portfolio companies, as reported by the Fund's accountants, was 12.79%.
- 1Q24 – During 1Q24, the Fund's accountants determined the 1Q24 investor dividend of $0.52 based upon a 3/15/24 cut-off date that understated the total investment income used to compute the 1Q24 as it excluded the dividends received by the Fund from several of the Fund's portfolio companies. The reason for the understatement of Investment Income was due to the Fund's accountants only estimating dividends after the cut-off date for the 4th quarter of each year, rather than doing so each quarter. We believe the 1Q24 Distribution Rate would have been similar to the Fund's 4Q23 Distribution Rate if the 1Q24 cut-off date would have been in early April 2024 rather than mid-March 2024.
- 2Q24 – In response to the 1Q24 understatement, DVDN's portfolio managers requested a change in all future quarterly cut-off dates, beginning 2Q24, to occur early in the month following a quarter-end so that all stock dividends received each calendar quarter would be included in each quarterly dividend calculation. Investors should understand the result of this change in the quarterly cut-off date, specific to the 2Q24 dividend, will be (a) to include the undistributed 1Q24 income in the 2Q24 investor dividend; and (b) to include the full quarterly dividends received by the Fund as the 2Q24 cut-off date will be in early July 2024.

DVDN currently expects the 2Q24 distribution to be $1.093777 resulting in a Distribution Rate of 14.90% that was determined by annualizing this distribution and dividing it by the ending 2Q24 NAV of $29.36. Investors should note that this Distribution Rate is not sustainable. As FINRA takes a dim view of advisers forecasting future results, DVDN believes it is logical that future Distribution Rates will reasonably approximate the average of the 1Q24 and 2Q24 Distribution Rates of 7.11% and 14.90%, respectively. To be sure, future distributions will reflect a full quarter's dividends declared by DVDN portfolio companies.

Investors should not rely on either the historical 30-Day SEC Yield or the Distribution Rate when considering an investment in DVDN as past results may not be indicative of future dividend distributions by companies in the DVDN portfolio.

Although the 30-Day SEC Yield and the Distribution Rate are computed over different time periods, investors / potential investors should realize the most significant determinant underlying the computation of both yields are the dividends paid to the Fund by each of the companies held in the Fund at the date each company's dividend is owed to the Fund that is commonly referred to as the company's "ex-date" or the "ex-dividend date". The company-specific dividends paid to the Fund are declared either monthly or quarterly and are subject to change without notice to the Fund.
